

CoachStation: Identifying Possibilities – Taking Action

This model works well in working through and considering all of the complementary and competing priorities, leading to potential actions that you could take – the challenge is to be targeted and specific